Loop Marketing.

Guide to Pricing & Packaging Services: Loop Marketing Implementation and Execution

HubSpot

Help your clients implement, configure and execute Loop Marketing, helping them grow in the AI-era of marketing.

The Evolution of Marketing Services

The marketing landscape has fundamentally shifted. Traditional linear marketing funnels are giving way to dynamic, AI-powered systems that continuously learn and adapt.

Clients no longer want campaigns that launch and hope for the best—they need marketing systems that evolve in real-time based on actual customer behavior and market feedback.

The Loop Marketing Playbook represents this new paradigm: a cyclical, data-driven approach that moves beyond static campaigns to create self-improving marketing systems.

Unlike traditional marketing frameworks that treat each campaign as a separate initiative, the Loop framework creates interconnected stages that feed insights back into the system, accelerating performance over time.

Why This Matters for Partners

As AI tools become more sophisticated and accessible, your clients are looking for partners who can do more than just implement technology—they need strategic guides who can transform their entire marketing approach. This presents both an opportunity and a challenge:

The Opportunity: Clients are willing to invest significantly in marketing systems that deliver measurable, compounding results. They're moving budgets from traditional advertising spend into strategic implementation and ongoing optimization.

The Challenge: The complexity of modern marketing systems and playbooks requires new service models that can handle both strategic consulting and technical implementation, often simultaneously.

Service Packaging Philosophy

Technology-Strategy Integration: Each package combines strategic consulting with hands-on technical implementation, recognizing that modern marketing success requires both thinking and doing.

Modular Offerings: You can pick, choose and repackage based on your clients needs and your price points.

Work in Progress: It's still the early days. We're just introducing Loop Marketing, but we've proven it works. The services outlined are just a starting point and will evolve over time as we learn more about what the market is seeking. The price points and packages are just a starting point… we highly recommend customizing and tailoring to your specific business, market segment, and clients.

Loop Services Overview

We've broken down the services you might offer across each stage of the Loop. In the following sections, we'll outline what's included in each.
Express Stage Implementation: Help clients define their unique brand Style Guide with deep audience understanding using AI-powered customer analysis. Partners implement Breeze Assistant workflows that analyze CRM data to identify high-value customer patterns, then facilitate collaborative workshops to translate these insights into comprehensive brand style guides that inform all AI content generation.

Tailor Stage Optimization: Deploy advanced personalization workflows that make messages feel genuinely personal rather than merely personalized. This includes implementing AI-powered contact enrichment, building intent-based segmentation strategies, and creating dynamic email personalization systems that adapt content based on individual prospect behaviors and characteristics.

Amplify Stage Diversification: Guide clients through channel diversification strategies that meet buyers where they actually are. Partners implement AI search optimization strategies, deploy Customer Agents on high-intent pages, identify and activate creator partnerships, and build integrated campaign systems that maintain message consistency across multiple channels.

Evolve Stage Acceleration: Create real-time optimization systems that learn and adapt continuously. Partners implement predictive campaign analysis tools, build rapid experimentation frameworks, and create AI-powered performance monitoring systems that provide actionable insights while campaigns are running rather than after they conclude.

Guidance on Positioning Loop Marketing and Your Services to Clients

Opening Positioning:

"Inbound marketing changed the way companies attract and convert customers. Loop Marketing is the evolution—built for an AI-driven buyer's journey where personalization, speed, and adaptability are non-negotiable. Without it, your competitors will outpace you in reach, relevance, and revenue."

Then, frame the urgency:

1. The market shift:
   a. Buyers are no longer just searching Google—they're asking ChatGPT-level assistants, Agents that help them scale and YouTube creators.
   b. Attention spans are shorter, buying committees are more complex, and expectations for personalization are higher than ever.
   c. AI is raising the bar: your competitors can now create content, campaigns, and insights faster and at lower cost.

2. The risk of inaction:
   a. Your existing inbound playbook (personas, blogs, email blasts) won't cut it when every company is publishing 10x more personalized content.
   b. Without clean data, personalization, and continuous optimization, you're invisible in AI search results and irrelevant to modern buyers.

Soundbite:

"Standing still with traditional inbound is like still buying print ads in the 2000s."

Positioning Loop as the Solution

Loop is not a buzzword. It's a framework that ensures your marketing stays effective in the AI era.

- Data Readiness (Foundations):
  - Fixes the plumbing. Without clean, connected data, none of the above is possible. Loop makes your CRM and systems "AI-ready."
- Express (Foundation):
  - Reframes strategy work. Instead of guessing personas, Loop uses AI + CRM insights to build a living style guide and messaging backbone that adapts with your market.
- Tailor (Personalization):
  - Modernizes automation. Where inbound had workflows, Loop personalizes every touchpoint with AI, making every buyer interaction feel one-to-one.
- Amplify (Distribution):
  - Expands reach beyond blogs and emails. Loop ensures you show up in AI search results, leverage social video, run AI-powered ads, and even tap creators your buyers trust. Meeting buyers where they are.
- Evolve (Optimization):
  - Drives compounding ROI. Loop sets up continuous testing and AI-powered performance insights, so you don't wait months to find out what's working—you know in real time.
